APPLICATION FOR ANNEXATION

(PLEASE PRINT CLEARLY OR TYPE)

(Prior to filing, the proposal should be discussed in detail with the Planning Division)

Washington State law governs annexation procedures. Annexation is a procedure for bringing unincorporated areas of a county into an adjacent incorporated city. The most common form of annexation is the “direct petition method,” whereby property owners or residents initiate and sign a petition asking to become part of the city.

Check one:

60% Direct Petition Method:

The most common procedure for annexation is the 60% direct petition method, whereby signatures of residents representing not less than 10% of the residents of the area or property owners of not less than 10% of the total assessed valuation of the area are filed for annexation. If the City Council initiate the public review process, the proponents are then responsible for acquiring property owner signatures representing 60% of the assessed valuation of the area proposed for annexation.

Alternative Direct Petition Method:

A second option available for annexation is the alternative direct petition method. Under this process for annexation signatures of residents representing not less than 10% of the residents of the area or property owners of not less than 10% of the acreage of the area are filed for annexation. If the City Council initiates the public review under this method for annexation, the petitioners are then responsible to acquire signatures that represent a majority (50+%) of the property owners acreage and registered voters residing in the area proposed for annexation. If no residents are within the area proposed for annexation, the petition must be signed by property owners of a majority of the acreage.

There is no guarantee that the City Council will initiate the public review process for filing a petition for annexation to the City. Additionally, there is no guarantee that the City Council will approve an annexation proposal based on initiating the review of an annexation proposal. At the conclusion of the public review process, the City Council votes to approve or deny the annexation.

Annexation Process:

The annexation process can be complex and lengthy, but generally follows the steps outlined below.

1. To submit an application for annexation, proponents are required to collect signatures on a “Notice of Intent to Annex” petition form.
2. The Planning and Community Development Division will then present the Notice of Intent to

3. Annex to the Bellingham City Council. If the Bellingham City Council determines that it is in the City's interest to dedicate staff time and resources to the proposal, then they will "initiate" the annexation process.
4. If the City Council accepts and initiates the annexation proposal, the proponents must then circulate a petition for signatures within the annexation area meeting the petition requirements for the type of annexation method proposed.
5. Within three working days after the filing of an annexation petition, the City shall transmit the petition to the Whatcom County Auditor's Office for petitions signed by registered voters, or to the County Assessor's Office for petitions signed by property owners for determination of sufficiency.
6. If the Boundary Review Board issues approval of the annexation proposal, then the Bellingham City Council must grant final approval at a public hearing and the annexation must be certified by the State of Washington.
