

Bellingham Public Works
We work for clean water!

I dig!

I'm Lexie the excavator!
My crew and I have an important job. We dig big holes in the ground for pipes. There are different pipes for cleaned drinking water, dirty sewer water, and rainwater that runs off streets. I sometimes dig as far as 8 feet down! When a water pipe breaks, I dig down to it so the crews can fix it. I love to dig!

May 16- 22, 2021 is National Public Works Week. The City of Bellingham Public Works department provides essential city services such as clean drinking water, wastewater treatment, stormwater management, protection of natural resources, and safe streets and sidewalks for transportation. Show your appreciation for all the stormwater and construction project management the City of Bellingham Public Works Department does by sharing your artwork on social media and tagging your post with #NPWW during National Public Works Week.