

Ways to Recruit Volunteers

- Ask your Troop

Other scouts are a great source for Team Leaders, especially scouts that have completed, or working on their Eagle Scout Projects.

- Involve Neighbors

If your project takes place close to a neighborhood engage the neighbors and educate them about your project. Flyers, along with going door to door is a great way to get people aware of your project and find volunteers.

- Associated Interest Groups

Bellingham is home to numerous clubs, associations, and special interest groups. Do some research to see what groups might be interested in your project and inform them of your plans.

- Religious groups

Many scouts ask their church group to volunteer for their project. If your project takes place near a church, you might consider asking them.

- Neighborhood Associations

Some Neighborhood Associations are very active. Going to a neighborhood meeting is a great way to ask people to volunteer.

- Whatcom Volunteer Center

The Bellingham Parks Volunteer Program posts all work parties to the Whatcom Volunteer Center. Ask the Volunteer Coordinator to make a post for your project.
